Man Sentenced For Kidnapping, Murder of Long Beach Infant

An Oceanside man was sentenced today to life in state prison for kidnapping and murdering an infant girl in Long Beach three years ago, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office announced.

Anthony Ray McCall (dob 12/4/85) received five life sentences as well as 141 years and eight months in prison. Earlier this month, he was found guilty of one count each of first-degree murder, kidnapping and attempted kidnapping, and four counts of attempted murder. Jurors also found true all of the allegations in the case, including gun use and infliction of great bodily harm.

Deputy District Attorney Cynthia Barnes of the Major Crimes Division prosecuted the case.

McCall snatched 3-week-old Eliza De La Cruz from her Long Beach home on Jan. 3, 2015. Her body was discovered the next day in a trash bin in San Diego County. He also attempted to kill the infant's mother, father and uncle.

On Feb. 6, 2015, McCall tried to kill a 23-year-old woman and kidnap her 4-month-old baby boy in an El Segundo hotel.

Giseleangelique Rene D'Milian (dob 3/30/67) pleaded no contest in January to one count of first-degree murder in Eliza's death and two counts of attempted murder for trying to kill the infant's father and uncle. She was sentenced to 25 years to life in state prison.

D'Milian orchestrated the plot to kidnap two babies after telling her boyfriend she was pregnant with twins even though she wasn't.

Todd Damon Boudreaux (dob 12/10/71) also was sentenced today to three years in prison after pleading guilty to one count of accessory after the fact in October 2016.

Case NA101490 was investigated by the Long Beach and El Segundo police departments.
