Two Charged with Stealing Car from Miley Cyrus' Home, Other Thefts

A man and a woman from Arizona have been charged with burglaries and thefts that included a 2014 Maserati stolen from Miley Cyrus' home, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office announced today.

Tylor Scott (dob 3/8/95) and Naomi Charles (dob 5/21/93) both face one count each of first degree residential burglary, grand theft of personal property, grand theft auto and unlawful driving or taking of a vehicle in case LA078069.

They both pleaded not guilty to the charges at arraignment late yesterday. Their next court hearing is scheduled for June 18 in Department 120 of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, Van Nuys Branch.

The complaint includes a firearm allegation for the alleged felony counts that occurred on May 30.

The case also charges Scott with an additional one count each of first degree residential burglary and grand theft firearm.

On May 15, Scott burglarized a Woodland Hills home and stole a 9mm Luger handgun, prosecutors said.

Fifteen days later Scott and Charles entered the pop star's home and stole jewelry, purses and clothes worth thousands of dollars and the Maserati, prosecutors added.

If convicted as charged Scott faces a maximum possible sentence of nine years in state prison. Charles faces seven years and eight months in state prison.

Bail was set at $150,000 for Scott and $100,000 for Charles.

The case remains under investigation by the Los Angeles Police Department, North Hollywood Division.
