I am a transgender female identified individual. I was born and raised in Southern California. I have been out as an open transwoman since August of 2015. In that time I have worked with multiple support groups, given speeches, and I am the former President of The OUTReach Center in Lancaster. I am also a grad student working on my master's degree in Clinical Psychology at Pepperdine University. I currently sit in the Community Advisory Committee for the Lancaster Station of the LASD. I work for the Los Angeles LGBT Center in their STOP program which is about awareness and stopping domestic violence within the LGBTQ community.
