Christian D. Green

Board Member

Professor. Community Organizer. Youth Pastor, Motivational Speaker, Author, and Foster Youth Advocate.

Born in a prison cell to an incarcerated mother and a father unknown, Christian D. Green has overcome many obstacles rare, atypical, and uncommon to others.

Christian David Green is a first generation, former foster youth, non-traditional graduate from the Antelope Valley, specifically Lancaster, California. Christian graduated spring 2016 from UCLA with a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology with a minor in African American Studies. And then Graduated with M.A. in African American Studies spring 2018 from UCLA. He currently serves as a national ambassador on the U.S. Truth Racial Healing and Transformation Coalition(US TRHT), serves as the Policy and Advocacy Director for Sanctuary of Hope that serves our TAY(Transitional Age Youth) Population, and as of Fall 2023 Christian has been hired on as the First African American Studies Professor at West LA Community College where he is building out the curriculum and the department. In 2018, he also released his first book - Uncovering Your Worth: From Legal Custody to UCLA which has allowed Christian to speak all over the nation about his own adventure within the child welfare system.
